BROADER SCOPE NOW IS PROPOSED

Committee Wants to Take Up Lobbying as Fine Art and Look Into All Its Intricacies. Many Sensations Are Developed During Day's Hearing.

Washington, June 13.—Lobbying as a fine art, how it is done, who is responsible, what ends are sought, and what results are accomplished, probably will be investigated by the special Senate lobby committee before it concludes its work and submits a report to the Senate. For nearly two weeks the five Senators on the committee have listened to testimony that has dealt almost exclusively with the influence exerted on the tariff bill, but it has uncovered enough trails to lead influence exerted on the tariff bill, but it has uncovered enough trails to lead members to believe that campaigns of every sort, political, industrial and economic, have been conducted much along the same lines, through paid agents and efforts to create public sentiment favorable to the causes concerned.

Will Submit It to Senate.

In executive session to-night the committee decided to submit to the Senate the question of further broadening of the scope of its inquiry. The investigation has taken so much time that some Senators on the committee thought that it might be well to limit its activities to a complete inquiry into s activities to a complete inquiry into lobbying for and against sugar and wool, but after a half hour's session. Chairman Overman was instructed to lay the whole matter before the Sen-

It was believed to-night that the time limit of twenty days placed upon the committee would be extended, and that the investigation would go into every possible phase of what the companies is lobbying. Any the committee would be extended, and that the investigation would go into every possible phase of what the committee suspects is lobbying. Any Skeletons that have dangled in the closets of Congress and any soiled linen that may have hung there will be exhibited to the public eye, and legislation to impose drastic restrictions upon lobbying and the "acceleration" of public opinion may result. Chairman Overman said at the conclusion of the executive session that none could see how long the inquiry might take if an extension of time is granted and the committee takes up the broad subject of general loopbying.

and the committee takes up the broad subject of general loobying.

Day of Sensations.

The committee's decision came at the end of a day filed with sensations. On two occasions President Wilson figured in the testimony. Senster Gallinger two occasions President Wison ngured in the testimony. Senator Gallinger fold the committee that in his opinion, the President had once come "danger-ously near lobbying," and Truman G. Palmer, Washington representative of the United States beet sugar industry, declared that a "plate matter" campaign much similar to the conducted in newspapers by him, had anied the campaigns President and Representative Under-wood before the Baltimore convention. Senator Cummins cross-examined Mr. Palmer at length about details of his newspaper campaign, and developed that to the best knowledge of the witness, many of the big interests of the country were engaged in similar efforts to mold the opinion of the country. The question of who was responsible for an alleged Senate order for the publication as a public document of "data prepared by Truman G Palmer" in "Sugar at a Glance," bobbed up again before adjournment, when Chairman Overman answered that the com-mittee intended to call Anselm Wolde, printing clerk of the Senate. that there might be reconsideration of the action thus far taken.

Despite the most strenuous efforts of the local fire department, the flames continued to spread, and calls for assistance were sent to Livingston Manor, Monticello, Jeffersonville, Roscoe and Middleton. Special trains loaded with firemen were hurried to the endangered village with a supply of dynamite to be used in checking the spread.

Washington, June 13.—Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall have borrowed a baby to enliven the loncliness of their Washington home. He is Thomas Marshall Sutherland, four-year-old son of the Vice-President's pastor.

There are no children in the Marshall family, and both are devotedly fond of babies and young people. When they visited Berkeley Springs recently Mrs. Marshall fell in love with her husband's namesake and promptly borrowed him for a time.

There was a reign of terror in the strike district, said the former Governor, "twenty-five or thirty murders, had been committed, and no prosecutions had been made in the courts. I considered martial law an absolute necessity."

Senator Berah ascertained that the Governor believed that the "mine guards" in the strike district, most of them employes of a detective agency, were the main cause of the trouble, and that one of the principal reasons for his declaring martial law was his desire to rid the district of the mine guards. After the guards had been driven out, he said, the question of unionizing the field became acute, and the trouble again broke out.

MAY ASK RECOUNT OF PRECINCT IN JEFFERSON WARD

Griggs People Claim 100 Votes Were Changed by Error.

NO FRAUD CHARGE MADE, HOWEVER

While Loss of Box Would Not Affect Satterfield, It Might Change Fifth Man for House of Delegates-Town Settles Down After Primary.

Charges of Irregularities in the conduct of the Democratic primary on Thursday at the Second Precinct of Jefferson Ward may be brought before the City Democratic Committee, with a request for a recount of the ballots cast at that precinct. The Griggs forces claim a discrepancy of 100 votes, which, if preved, would not alter the general result in the Griggs-Satterfield fight, but might have a material effect on the settlement of some of the wagers made as to the result of the election. A recount of the precinct, if made to apply to other sections of the ballot than the sergeantcy fight, might have a very direct bearing on the fifth place in the House of Delegates contest, and in the election of justices of the peace and city committeemen from Jefferson Ward.

The Griggs people as yet have made no formal charge, but members of the committee have been approached in regard to the matter, and have stated that if any reasonable evidence of fraud can be shown, that the committee will make a thorough investigation. Some of the Griggs people seem to think that the discrepancy claimed was a mere clerical error.
